

Company HQs get rival to leased lines

SwitchIP, the voice, data and videoconferencing supplier, has produced an alternative to leased lines that connect company headquarters to their wide area networks. Inpurple Procall uses SDSL broadband technology to deliver 2mbps of bandwidth upstream and down so users can gain access to the high-speed connectivity and bandwidth required to send, receive and process large amounts of information that pass through corporate headquarters.